

MARKET PRICE COMMODITY CENTER

*Are you reacting to the market rather than getting in front of potential price increases?
Determine the best time to buy with Market Price Commodity Center.*

The Challenge:

How much more effectively could you manage your spend with insight into the raw materials that go into the products you purchase?

Is lack of visibility into the commodities market costing you? Commodity prices are historically volatile and currently expected to continue on an upward trend. If you're like many buyers, you depend on suppliers to alert you of price increases or decreases due to fluctuations in raw product cost. You can bet you're learning of increases in a timely manner, but what about decreases? Are you paying more than the market warrants?

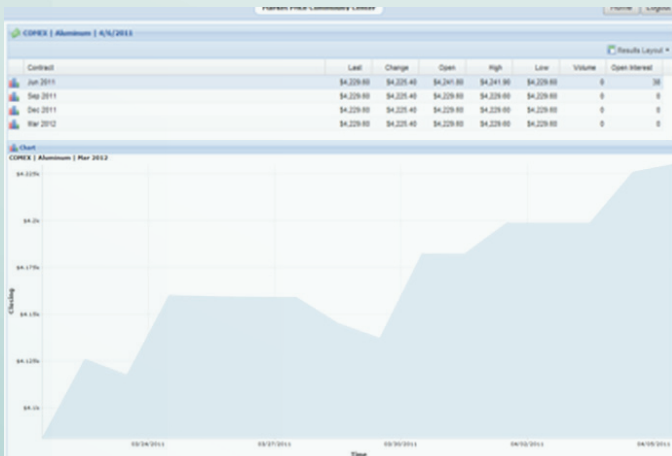

The Solution:

Proactively monitor raw material costs to determine the best time to buy.

As the old saying goes – knowledge is power. So stop relying on your key suppliers and gauge the best time to purchase with access to real time market data on hundreds of commodities from all major exchanges.

The Features:

The Intesource Market Price Commodity Center provides business owners access to the necessary information to complete a thorough cost analysis and ensure they're getting the best price available.

Benefits of visibility into commodity markets include:

- A clear picture of historical trend data and price fluctuations
- Ability to monitor current price as well as futures
- Alerts to effectively monitor key items
- Protection for both the buyer and the supplier in volatile markets

The Market Price Commodity Center gives buyers another tool to better negotiate terms and pricing. Integrated within the Intesource suite of tools or used as a standalone solution, Intesource Commodity Center will actively enhance productivity, project success, and decision making - resulting in not only time and cost savings but maximized ROI.
